DIM PROSPECT FOR NEW YEAR

Sad prospect for the New Year is held out for 40,000 Baluba tribes folk. This picture of a child waiting behind barbed wire for a meagre ration of food tells the story better than any words. The Balubas were among many refugees who were swept out of their tribal orbit when Congo was granted its freedom. With their village and lands ravaged by war and neglect, there seems little hope their situation will be remedied in 1962. They remain in camps under UN guards.

Katangan Capital Tense On Report Of UN Attack

ELISABETHVILLE (Reuters) — A shaky cease-fire has been in force in Elisabethville since following charges by President Moise Tshombe that the United Nations and the Congolese central government have launched attacks on towns in north Katanga province.

Portugal Grows Angry At U.K., U.S. And NATO

LISBON (AP) — An atmosphere of anger is gradually building up here against Portugal's 600-year-old alliance with Britain. The Portuguese also appear to be soured on their relations with the United States.

Many Portuguese believe that Premier Antonio Salazar will pull out of the alliance with Britain when he addresses the National Assembly Jan. 3. Some may be disappointed if he doesn't break the ties with London, rooted in centuries of trade and commerce between the two countries.

Latest irritant in relations between Portugal and its two main Western allies is the Western reaction to the Indian invasion of Goa. The United States and Britain denounced the takeover of the Portuguese Indian colony but apparently the Portuguese feel they didn't speak strongly enough in the United Nations.

Cost of Hilarity High

NEW YORK (AP) — The high cost of hilarity will run even higher in many places this New Year's Eve, and in several states there will be some headaches even before the day after. Blue laws forbidding liquor sales in parts of the United States are creating many a dry oasis on New Year's Eve, Sunday night. In some of these places, restaurants and nightclubs will serve dinner, Sunday night and then begin serving drinks at 12:01 a.m. Monday. Others figure it isn't worth the trouble. As a result, there is expected to be a tremendous exodus from dry states and cities in bordering areas where the holiday spirit still gurgles freely. In a few instances the big blowouts have been changed from Sunday to Saturday night. States in which blue laws apply in full or in part include Washington, Indiana, Nebraska, Minnesota, Michigan and Missouri.

PRICES RUN HIGH

New Year's Eve party prices will range up to around $35 a person in the better known night clubs and restaurants in the major U.S. cities. This usually includes dinner, noise makers, funny hats and confetti, but not the drinks. There has been a tremendous demand for reservations and, son-

NEILSON (CP) — Tim Davidson, father of six, died in a fire which gutted his home in the village of Kaslo 44 miles north of here late Friday night.

Davidson, about 45, was alone in the house at the time. Neighbors said they heard an explosion as the fire broke out.

A heavy snowfall prevented the village's volunteer fire brigade from reaching the scene in time. Firemen said the fire probably was started by an exploding propane heater in the living room.

SILVER STAR TRAGEDY CLAIMS LIFE OF COAST GIRL AGED 16

VERNON (Staff) — A skiing accident on Vernon's Silver Star mountain Friday claimed the life of 16-year-old Margaret Spohn, of Vancouver.

It is believed that Miss Spohn was separated from two companions and skied into a snow bank. Her body was discovered soon after. An autopsy today showed the girl died of Asphyxia.

Mother of the dead girl, Mrs. Peter Spohn, was at the Silver Star Chalet at the time of the accident. The girl's father, Dr. Peter Spohn, was drowned near their Coast summer cottage last summer. Her grandparents, Dr. and Mrs. Howard Spohn are in Vancouver.

RCMP deplored the lack of telephone facilities at Silver Star. The fatality occurred at 4 p.m. but it wasn't until 5:55 p.m. that police were notified.

Date for an inquest has not been set.

De Gaulle's Algeria Plan Sparks Violence Wave

ORAN, Algeria (AP) — Violence swept Oran again today as European settlers vented their anger at President de Gaulle's new plan to speed Algerian independence. Three persons were killed, bringing the two-day death toll to six.

After two young men and a French marine were killed in clashes between rioters and French military forces Friday night, European shopkeepers here opened for business but an hour later pulled down their iron shutters as a sign of mourning.

A European policeman working to track down the anti-de Gaulle Secret Army Organization was shot dead by Europeans as he stepped into his car.

Two Moslems were killed by gunfire. Moslems working for French authorities or who support the Algerian nationalist rebels have been frequent targets of attacks by European extremists.

ALTA. MEAT CHEAPER

Fattening Of B.C. Cattle May Be Started At Coast

VANCOUVER (CP) — A city council committee Friday decided to investigate the establishment of feeder lots in the British Columbia Lower Mainland after hearing that dressed meat from Alberta is shipped here at less cost than B.C. cattle.

The committee was told that the establishment of such lots would permit interior cattle to be fattened on grain near here. B.C. livestock now is fattened on grain on the Prairies.

The committee, which is probing the area's falling packing-house industry, will ask Trade and Industry Minister Donner for information contained in a recent report compiled by his department on the industry.

Members heard John F. Newton, controller of the Pacific Meat Company Ltd., say development of a feedlot industry on the Lower Mainland could save B.C.'s multi-million dollar packing-house operations.

He said Fraser Valley farmers would require government loans to start the feedlots. Mr. Newton said the industry cannot compete with dressed beef from Alberta which is shipped here at a cost less than live cattle from B.C.

The transport of the dressed beef was lower than the railway freight rate for B.C. cattle because of the competition offered by truckers. This situation would worsen when the Trans-Canada Highway was completed through B.C. because Calgary-based firms would be able to offer overnight shipments of dressed meat to Vancouver and the Lower Mainland.

Kelowna Celebrations Mostly House Parties

Kelownians, in common with the rest of Canada, seems set for a slightly subdued farewell to 1961. Celebrations are mostly planned in house-party form and the split in festivities on Saturday and Sunday appears one restraining factor.

Generally poor travelling conditions, with mercury hovering around zero and below in visiting in the Okanagan and Kootenays, Winnipeg and Regina.

A Canadian Press survey says this applies across the nation. Railways and airlines report only moderately heavier travel demands at the start of the long New Year's weekend.

Low temperatures and the prospect of a snowy New Year's Eve prevail across most of Canada, with the west coast a damply warm exception.

A mild spell on the Atlantic coast that brought rain to the Maritimes Friday is giving way to colder weather and a forecast of snowflurries.

Western Quebec and southern Ontario face a temperature range between 10 and 20 degrees and generally cloudy weather. Eastern Quebec looks forward to sunny weather but snowflurries are forecast for some central Canadian districts.

COLD ON PRAIRIES Northern Ontario and the Prairies are bundling up in the coldest of Canada's current passengers.

Westbank Man Injured Police Court Sequel

An incident in Westbank last night, was given a 60-day jail term following a $1,000 accident last night north of Duck Lake on Highway 97.

Stubbs pleaded guilty to a charge of impaired driving and his licence was suspended for one year.

RCMP said Stubbs' car sideswiped a panel truck driven by Ernest Herbert Pow, also of Winfield.

Police last night were called to a First Ave. north home around 6:45 p.m. Barnes, who is deaf, appeared in court and was remanded without plea in custody to Jan. 8.

Also in court today Reginald Howard Stubbs of R.R. 1, Winfield.

Eight Killed In Auto Crash

CORDELL, Okla. (AP) — Eight Oklahomans died near here Friday night in a flaming two-car smashup described as the worst on record in the state. There were no survivors.

Seven of the victims were in one car, including all five members of an Elk City family. Their car overturned, trapping them inside, and erupted in flames.

Louis Wouldn't Squawk: It's Just For The Birds

VICTORIA (CP) — Louis the Garrulous, a brandy-soaked parrot of indefinite vintage, still holds sway in his own house in the middle of a Victoria parking lot.

Louis, more than 100 years old, was assured the ministrations of a Chinese attendant, all the brandy he could hold and a roof over his head till the end of his days by the terms of his late owner's will.

When Victoria's Wilson died in 1949 her will provided that Louis was to remain on the property until he died. Only then could the house be torn down.

The properties on either side were turned into a parking lot and owners of the car park hoped Louis would be an attraction. But the parrot has become a recluse. A reporter who peered into a window of the house Friday saw only one bloodshot eye and a bundle of moldering feathers which staggered to the opposite end of the perch. Apparently even Wah Wong, Louis' faithful Chinese attendant, found the parrot a bit more than he could take. Some time ago Wong moved uptown and got married. However, he still calls in several times a week with Louis' food and brandy.

WEEK'S NEWS REVIEW

UK Gunboat Policy Hit; Cabinet Shuffle, Congo

British accused of "gunboat policy" over Kuwait. Intrigue and bloodshed continues in The Congo. Diefenbaker, in Quebec, announces cabinet change.

BRITAIN ACTS

Seven British warships, including an aircraft carrier, moved toward the Persian Gulf in response to intelligence reports that Iraq might try to take over the oil-rich sheikdom of Kuwait, with which Britain has a defence agreement.

The intelligence estimates—which came in to London during the Christmas holiday—indicated that Iraq's Premier Abden Karim Kassim might be emboldened to move by the United Nations failure to act against India's invasion of Goa.

As the new year's holiday approached, tension appeared to ease, although Iraq protested to the UN Security Council Thursday against what it termed a "gunboat policy" by Britain. But Iraq did not ask for a council meeting at present over its claims to Kuwait.

PROGRESS IS SLOW

Intrigue and violence continued in The Congo, although there seemed to be some progress toward a settlement in the new year.

Six legislators from secessionist Katanga province took their places in the national parliament in Leopoldville Thursday under an agreement reached in a conference between Congo Premier Cyrille Adoula and Katanga President Moise Tshombe.

But doubts—bolstered by official statements—were strong over just how far Tshombe is willing to go to end Katanga's secession. Clashes continued between Katanga troops and the UN force as Premier Sir Roy Welensky of bordering Northern Rhodesia promised to take steps to ensure an end to any gun-running between the two territories.

Belgium agreed to reopen diplomatic relations with The Congo, its former colony. Relations were cut after bloody violence followed independence day June 30, 1960.

MINISTER NAMED

There was much speculation when Prime Minister Diefenbaker announced he would hold a cabinet meeting in Ottawa but in Quebec City, where Governor-General Vanier was spending the Yuletide season.

A major cabinet shuffle was predicted. But the prime minister announced the appointment of just one new cabinet member. He is Jacques Flynn 46, member for Quebec South, who becomes minister of mines and technical surveys.

The prime minister also made three honorary appointments apparently designed to give added prestige to his chief campaign lieutenants in the next general election.

Finance Minister Fleming, around whom the cabinet-shuffle reports had swirled, stays at his post and the prime minister emphatically denied published reports of friction between Fleming and himself.

ATLANTIC STORM

The Atlantic picked Christmas Day to raise a wild storm that separated the dredge Cartagena from the Canadian tug Foundation Vigilant, en route from Quebec City to Baltimore, Md.

The Cartagena's 10-man crew stayed aboard the helpless dredge for two days in raging seas before being picked up by a U.S. coast guard cutter. Then four men from the tug, owned by Foundation Maritime Limited in Halifax, went aboard.

By Friday, the weather was reported "worse than ever," foiling efforts to re-connect a line between the tug and the big dredge.

ROYAL NEWS

The Queen Mother will visit Montreal and Ottawa next June for about 10 days.

The Queen Mother's visit, her third to Canada, was announced in Ottawa and London together with news that the Princess Royal, the Queen's aunt, also will make a separate visit to Canada in June.

In earlier royal news, the Queen's Christmas message this year contained an earnest appeal to youth. She said it is natural that the younger generation should have patience in view of the failure of their elders to bring some order to the world.

"But things will not get any better if young people merely express themselves by indifference or by revolution against what they regard the out-of-date order of things."

WORLD BRIEFS

An attempt to arrange a "summit" conference among three rival princes of war-torn Laos was reported by two of them Friday as a dead loss—but efforts were continuing. Indonesia said Friday it is bolstering its navy with Communist warships and submarines for the "liberation" of Dutch West New Guinea.

President Kennedy will ask the U.S. Congress to approve the purchase of $100,000,000 in bonds to assist in the United Nations' financial crisis. This would represent half the UN bond issue approved last week.

In Colombia, a bomb that terrorists were accused of planting killed at least 50 persons at a Christmas Eve celebration in an army barracks. . . . Kurt Meyer, the German SS general whose death sentence for responsibility in the wartime murder of 18 Canadian prisoners of war was commuted to life imprisonment, died Dec. 23 at 51. . . . Meyer was released from prison in 1954.

NOBLE HOSTILITY

No doubt it's just in the nature of things that Debrett's would look down on Kelly's.

A press merger has forced these two guides to the British upper crust into the position of strange bedfellows. They have been put under the same direction, and the question is, who directs whom?

Debrett's Peerage, Baronetage, Knightage and Companionage is much more expensive than Kelly's Handbook to the Titled, Landed and Official classes.

And that's not the only difference, says Cyril Hankinson, editor of Debrett's.

"Frankly, we're a cut above them," he admitted.

WEEK IN THE WEST

A frantic six-day search for a radioactive iodine capsule that disappeared from a truck on the Hart Highway 100 miles northeast of Prince George, B.C., ended Wednesday when a representative of Industrial X-Ray Limited of Calgary found the capsule after several hours of sifting through a snowbank. The industrial capsule was being shipped in a lead container and wooden box when it disappeared Dec. 21.

Living Cost Index Change

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. government is changing the base period for its living cost index from 1947-49 to 1957-59.

The idea is that a more recent comparative period makes the data more useful. Officials said users favor short-run rather than long-run comparisons.

Living cost figures are collected monthly by the bureau of labor statistics in communities in every state. They cover every type of usual consumer expenditure, including food, housing, clothing, transportation, medical and personal care, reading and recreation, and goods and services of all kinds. In compiling an over-all living cost index various items are weighted in comparison to how much of the average family budget is devoted to any particular category. For example, food items make up about one-third of the index value.

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Russian farm workers can be jailed if they are found guilty of "criminal negligence" in using or storing farm machinery, under a government decree published today.

Canada "In Envious" Position Says Pearson

OTTAWA (CP) — Opposition Leader Pearson said Friday in a New Year's message that Canada has "a position of envious good fortune" in a world of so much stress, tension and distress.

But he added that much remains to be done to build a strong and prosperous country. There had been some economic improvement this year but unemployment still was a cause of serious concern. He added: "Given the sound policies, the vigorous action and the wise, steady and decisive leadership that these difficult times demand, we can solve our problems at home, as our forbears solved theirs, as well our full part in the quest for an enduring peace."

Mr. Pearson is holidaying in Mexico. His New Year's message was released through his office here.

"The dawning of each new year brings with it the fresh hopes and the hard challenges that have inspired and tested men through the ages," it said. "Nineteen hundred and sixty-two is no exception. "We enter it, however, in an atmosphere of anxiety greater in some ways than before because man's very survival is at stake; yet we need not lack confidence and we must not lack resolution as we cross its threshold. . . ."

TO PROBE SINKING

LONDON (Reuters) — Transport Minister Ernest Marples Friday ordered a formal investigation into the sinking of the 7,129-ton British cargo ship Clan Keith which sank off northwest Tunisia Nov. 5 with a loss of 62 lives. The crew of 68 consisted of 11 British and three South African officers and 54 Pakistani seamen. British Captain Lionel Pitts was among the six survivors. A mystery explosion split the ship in half and sank it.

FLOOD SWAMPS ... AREA—WORST SINCE 1948

A Look Back Over the Year 1961

Kelowna 1961 was a year marked with excitement and tragedy.

Unfortunately, from a newspaper's point of view one was linked with the other.

The raging fires which in the space of a few months devastated the heart of the community's economy to the tune of nearly $2,000,000 certainly stands out in the year, as in March and again in August, holocausts levelled packinghouse operations.

It will be remembered as the year of the big fires.

GIANT STRIDES

But Kelowna took exciting giant strides forward as its voters approved a long overdue new police station, a downtown parking lot for the business section, contributed overwhelmingly to an auditorium fund, okayed a power outlet purchase, held a provincial fruit growers convention, gave the nod to extensive school spending and became the site of a proposed vocational school building.

All that and gained 2,000 more people since 1956.

Despite its setbacks, and it's had them before, Kelowna will likely leap ahead next year and perhaps could adopt a motto, "There's still Lots to Do in '62".

They likely will get done, too.

The Daily Courier has highlighted chronologically the events which made 1961 the exciting year it was.

City Dancing Teacher Marks Big Day Jan. 1

In 1937, 19 young students twirled on their toes in the old Orange Hall.

Guiding their dancing feet was Miss Mary Pratten, who on January 1 marks her 85th birthday and her silver anniversary of contributing to the arts in Kelowna.

Miss Pratten is still actively engaged in teaching dancing. She plans to be actively engaged because she is a dedicated woman.

Her 19 students have become part of the thousands of boys and girls who have learned to dance under her tutelage.

City Youth Fined $50

John Wayne Newick, 20, pleaded guilty to being a minor in possession of liquor and was fined $50 and costs in court today.

RCMP said they investigated a parked car on Swamp Road and saw one male person behind the car and a bottle being thrown in the ditch. There were four minor females in the car and Newick was found behind the wheel; beer and wine were confiscated, police said.

Magistrate White told the youth "the court would not tolerate you boys taking young girls out and feeding them liquor."

A charge of following another vehicle too closely has been laid against Earl Gibeau of Kelowna following a three-car collision Friday.

Drivers of the two other cars involved in the accident at Pandosy St. and Leon Ave. were Harvey Leland Johnson and William John Nargle, both of Kelowna.

No one was injured. Damage total was $150 according to police.

BREAKIN
RCMP said this morning they are investigating a breaking and entering at Gem Auto Service on the Vernon Road. It was reported that $65 in cash was taken from the premises overnight.

REMANDED
Given a remand in Kamloops yesterday were Clifford Harry Wilson, Walter Clough and Lawrence McDougall, all of Westbank who are in custody following a charge of robbery with violence laid against them by Kelowna RCMP Dec. 21.

SIGHTS ROBIN
Fourteen year old Gary Meek, Dilworth Cres., couldn't believe his eyes yesterday afternoon. Perched on a front lawn tree at his home was a robin. Gary said the bird had been around all day.

Commonwealth Film Productions Ltd. has announced the working title of its feature length film to be produced in the Kelowna area in April.

The productions will be commenced the filming of a "Circle of Gred", an existing screenplay written by James Clavell who was signed last week as writer-producer-director of two $750,000 motion pictures to be made here and in Vancouver this spring.

The film planned for Kelowna will be slightly modified to utilize locations around this city. The story is described as outdoor - action - adventure.

SCOUT AREA

Story Editor and Staff Writer E. G. Peroutt and Commonwealth's Camera Director Osmond Borrdale, will scout the Okanagan area around Kelowna immediately after the new year and Mr. Clavell together with co-producer William Magginnell will examine the Kelowna locations for "Circle of Gred" in about two weeks.

In May, Commonwealth will commence the filming of a screenplay with the working title "The Bitter and The Sweet".

The screen story has been written by Commonwealth's E. G. Peroutt and will be directed and produced by Mr. Clavell who will also write the screen play.

The story is a contemporary drama set mainly on the coast of British Columbia, and utilizing such communities as Stevenson and the harbor of Vancouver. The theme is based on the lives of Canadians of Japanese ancestry in British Columbia during and after World War II.

Commonwealth is negotiating presently for an established star either in Hong Kong or Japan — one with a large following in the Orient. Distribution rights in certain Far Eastern countries will be granted in exchange.

Mr. Clavell, as in his previous motion pictures will cast internationally and locally and is hoping to find interesting faces and new talent in B.C. and across Canada.

Production roster for the two films includes: Oldrich Vachek, executive producer; James Clavell, writer - director - producer; William Magginnell, co-producer and Production Manager; Ernest Peroutt, dialogue director.

A BIG ROLE
For Commonwealth he will act as writer, director and producer as he has in the past in the U.S. where only five persons are known to wear these three hats at once. Mr. Clavell's aim, as it is also Commonwealth's, is to present quality pictures about something on a budget of "under a million dollars" for each feature.

The films produced will be stamped with a "made in Canada" label and employ Canadian personnel.

SPAN TO CLOSE
In order that the Department of Highways may make certain modifications in the lift span of the Okanagan Bridge, short closures will be made on Jan. 4 and 5.

District Engineer A. L. Freebairn announced today the closures will not exceed 15 minutes at a time.

ONLY $700 NEEDED TO START CONSTRUCTION OF AUDITORIUM

The Auditorium Fund Committee announced today it finished the year $700 short of its $40,000 objective to provide Kelowna with a new theatre centre.

However, in the past month a whopping $3,000 has been whittled down to the present deficit. Committee chairman David Chapman said the Committee is still very hopeful the remainder can be raised so tenders can be called for the centre's construction sometime early in the new year.

Kelowna's response since the drive for funds began early in September has been excellent.

Various organizations, school groups, private individuals business concerns and homeowners have pitched in their pennies to make a long - awaited dream in Kelowna a reality.

When the auditorium is built, it will be a fine drawing card for Kelowna and a tribute to people interested in the future of the arts in the city.

Could Be Wet Here

New Year's around Kelowna will likely be very wet, according to the latest forecast.

The city so far has been blessed by the snow but that was due to be dropped, likely because of the extremely mild temperatures but leaden skies still appear to be a menace.

Roads around the city this morning were treacherously icy and sidewalks were covered with a thin, heel-slipping glaze of ice.

It is predicted to remain mostly cloudy over the weekend with a few showers tonight and again on Sunday. Temperatures during the day will be around the 40 degree mark and may dip to freezing overnight.

New Year Is The Time To Seek God's Help

Today we stand at the portal of another new year.

Some may contend that the dividing of time is arbitrary. Be that as it may, the fact still remains that time is transitory. The truth stands unchanged that another year has been added to history. Never can it be regained. That time which was used constructively and beneficially has been exchanged into the coin of character, wholesome influence, the blessing of mankind. The time which has been wasted or misused leaves only remorse and defeat. The only way it can be transformed into some good is when it is repented of and is made to serve as a stepping stone to future achievements.

As we face the uncertain future of the new year it is not without forebodings. What will it hold for us? Will it bring better world relations or worse? Could it be—oh God forbid!—the breaking forth of World War Three with the ultimate in destruction?

Whatever the future holds for us we ought not to surrender to despair but face the future with confidence. But that confidence is relative. It cannot be based upon man's ingenuity or strength but must be placed in almighty God. We need the confidence that comes from personal dependence upon God through our Lord Jesus Christ. We need it more than ever before. The Lord declares: "Be still and know that I am God." May we confidently confess that "God is our refuge and strength, a very present help in trouble. Therefore will not we fear, though the earth be removed, and though the mountains be carried into the midst of the sea." How good to realize that God is still on the throne and that He rules in the affairs of men.

Such confidence stems from a personal commitment to God and a surrender to His will for our lives. The Bible warns against selfish interests which are divorced from God's commands. It enjoins us to seek first the kingdom of God and His righteousness. A good motto for the new year would be the words of God, penned by the prophet Micah: "He hath shewed thee, O man, what is good; and what doth the Lord require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God?"

A good way to begin the new year would be to attend the Week of Prayer—or hold your own—to seek God's will and to invoke His blessing upon us, our nation and our world.—REV. E. W. RIEGL, Pastor Evangelical United Brethren Church.

The New Year

The New Year is the time to put the best foot forward, write off mistakes and try again. Individuals have much greater resources within than they commonly give themselves credit for, and this reserve of self-help is not only the most immediately accessible, but also the most practical for each one. Long before we lean upon others for advice we should think matters through for ourselves. There are few problems that are not soluble when one gets to work on them, and the emphasis there is on the next, considered step. That which cannot be changed must of course be accepted, but not many things are unchangeable in this world. Contentment seems to come, not from a first effort to change our circumstances, but from a continued one.

Worry is the useless baggage, and when one learns to lay it aside there is a vast release of energy to apply at the source of human troubles. Instead of grouping our problems and lumping them into a mountain of despair and doubt, we should separate them, attack the nearest and most pressing and persevere in that until we have whittled it down in size or urgency. The mere fact of being busy about a solution is of itself an encouragement, and the best device for keeping worry at bay. What an individual sets out to do with good courage and persistence very often can be accomplished with that much relief in the general circumstances all round. Nor should any individual yield at the first obstacle. Surmounting difficulties is the surest way to develop and grow strong in those attributes which count.

Let the world wag as it will, the solution of most human problems is often no further away than at the end of our own two hands. This is the lesson to be gleaned from every biography which has ever been written, and indeed from every life that has ever been lived. "Having" is the smallest part of it. "Being" is the real aim. It has rightly been said that character is what we make of ourselves, daily and a little at a time. Not to start, not to attempt or to give up too soon are the real failures. It is a sound Canadian belief that each man should be his own chariot. These are the days when that sturdy concept can be of value in each life. To reap even a night's rest one must earn it. If each one does that, this will be a happy New Year.

In Passing

"Inflation is mostly psychological," says an economist. All we know is that this psychological situation is keeping us broke.

"Let's you and I be more careful to observe the rules of grammar," suggests a columnist. Yes, indeed—let's do so.

"Castro has executed 952 persons since he came to power." — Press report. In the long run it may turn out that those executed were luckier than many Cubans who have to live under the little two-by-four despot.

In conceding that testing atomic bombs in the atmosphere creates a serious health hazard, Khrushchev tacitly admits he has no regards for the health and well being of the human race.

The person who does most to stimulate the economy and encourage installment buying is the one who sells a lot of things to the Joneses which our neighbors can't afford.

"Eating considerable quantities of rich foods is a slow but sure way of killing oneself," says a physician. Yes, it's probably the most pleasurable way of committing suicide.

One small thing you might be thankful for is that of the many sick jokes that were circulating some months ago, most of them were so sick that they have died.

CALM REFLECTION

Calm waters in the coming year and reflections on the past year are graphically illustrated in this photograph taken recently on Okanagan Lake near Kelowna. The world's peoples are striving for peace, facing each crisis as it arises with hope and courage. Scenes such as this, if one were actually present as was the photographer, give rise to contemplation and a stock-taking of oneself which many world leaders would do well to heed.

INSIDE YOU AND YOURS

How To Take Temperature

By BURTON H. FERN, M.D.

Do you know how to weigh body temperature?

If not, that fever thermometer can be a two-edged sword, cutting deeply when you lean on it too much. When checking for fever, consider:

Who: Mouth temperature doesn't always average 98-99° F. Often it ranges over 101 or below 97° F. People differ.

Where: The rectal temperature averages $\frac{1}{2}$ to 1° higher than the mouth. The under-arm reading runs 1° lower.

What: Chewing and smoking raise mouth temperature; cold pop and ice cream lower it. But the rectal reading remains normal, unless the heat of an inflamed fissure sends the mercury up.

TIME ELEMENT
When: Temperature usually reaches high tide in late afternoon and dips lowest in early morning. Working the night shift may reverse the tide.

Weather: On scorching days the mouth thermometer often winter can drive the mercury reads 101 or more, while icy below 97.

Did What: Muscular exercise raises thermometer readings. After a Little League game, with the sun melting the diamond, Junior's temperature may reach 102. If he'd been watching a double-feature—especially in an air-conditioned theatre—he'd be fever-free.

How Old: The brain's automatic thermostat takes years to run smoothly. Premature babies have to be heated in incubators, with air-cooling systems for summer.

RAISES TEMPERATURE
An ordinary cold can skyrocket a child's temperature. So can bundling a baby in heavy blankets at the first sniffle. A feverish toddler who kicks off his blankets in a cool room may show no fever.

As you near social security, your average temperature may drop down to 97. Now, 99° F means fever!

What Medicine: After aspirin, fever usually dips one or two degrees—sometimes more. Now your temperature doesn't reflect your true condition. When the aspirin wears off in four hours, you'll know.

And So: When deciding whether to call the doctor, don't depend on temperature alone. It's often overrated. After all, you may have rinsed the thermometer in hot water!

rpm's Column

Omar Khayyam's moving finger writes, and, according to Edward Fitzgerald, having writ, moves on, indifferently. I daresay. For neither piety nor wit, we are told, nor even tears, may call the finger back or wash out one single written word.

So it is, also, with the year of grace, 1961, departing tomorrow night into the limbo of time; neither piety nor wit nor tears will bring it back. It has gone, period.

And, of course, we are glad to see it go, else why the bells at midnight and the smiles and handshakes and Happy New Years and a few other things. And yet, alas, it is one more year and so one less to come.

Why should we hail its departing as we do? Was it not good to us while it lasted, twelve solid months of living? No year, I suppose, is ever good enough. Always there is a rainbow luring us with a new date inscribed in glowing colors, as though to invite a change of heart or fortune, or both. The change we could make, perhaps, on any day during any year, since time is our own handmaiden, but that would be a lonesome business, unshared and unsung.

We need company, hence the unanimity with which we will stay up late tomorrow night to bring the new year in. I do not capitalize these two magic words, you will note, for they have yet to earn their spurs. Allowing, that is, that we let this new year earn its spurs. I have a notion that a twelve-month hence, supposing us all to be present, we shall be bidding 1962 adieu as heartily as we bid it hello.

It is not the year, then, that matters except that it adds to a total none of us can entirely writ, move on, indifferently. Which is where those bold but imprudent resolutions come in. The flutter of little white vows. There will be enough of them Monday morning to snow-clad the landscape. I daresay a few of my effete own. One there should be, I know: a do-it-now motto having particular reference to answering letters the day I receive them, and I would fain make such a promise were it not for the shock this would give those patient correspondents who have all but given up hope of a prompt reply.

Hope, however, never wholly dies; fortunately, for if it did we might as well all pass on tomorrow night in partnership with 1961. And of course hope is at the core of our jollity and the eagerness with which we hang up a new calendar. Pretty some of these are, too, and should they really herald a new year they will seem not pretty but beautiful.

There is, always, so much to wish for in a fresh, unspoiled period of grace. At the top of the list this year, as last, there is the aching hope that somehow the Congo and Berlin and the seemingly endless cold war might be reconciled. That alone would make the rainbow of 1962 a reality of deep content.

For the rest, each of us must make of the new year what he can, a sentiment which nevertheless does not inhibit me from adding to the immortal Omar, to wit:

May the moving finger touch you all with favor as it passes.

REPORT FROM THE U.K.

England Has Same Trouble as We Do

By M. MCINTYRE HOOD
Special London (Eng.) Correspondent
For The Daily Courier

LONDON—During the Christmas shopping season, it has been very convenient to find the stores staying open for longer hours, so that people who work in factories and offices have an opportunity to do their shopping after they have finished their daily work. In some areas, stores have done away with the weekly half-holiday in order to cater to the needs of the public.

Now that the Christmas shopping season is over, however, these appreciated concessions to the buying public have come to an end. They were only temporary. But they did serve to emphasize in my mind the difficulties which are the normal lot of the British shopper and the shopkeeper. They are surrounded by such a network of outdated and almost unworkable regulations that at times both feel frustrated and annoyed. The buyers often find that when they can buy there are no stores open, and the storekeeper can do very little about it.

There are some restrictions which seem foolish. Take the man who had a small store of his own and employs only members of his family as the staff. He cannot do what he would like to do. He may often feel it would be worth while to stay open late in the evening, but the law does not permit him to do so.

In London, a butcher cannot stay open after seven o'clock. But the nearby self-service store can continue to sell its stocks, meat included, up to its more general closing hour of eight.

A store may stay open to sell candles on early closing days. It can sell eggs. It can sell milk. But it may not sell tea or coffee to go with the milk, even if the packet or tin is on the shelves. A newsstand, on early closing days can sell newspapers. But it cannot sell books even of the paper-back variety.

SUNDAY REGULATIONS

The man who runs a delicatessen store can open on Sundays to sell fresh fruit and vegetables. But he cannot sell the same food if it comes in tins or frozen packages. But the sale of fodder for horses, mules, ponies and donkeys is perfectly legal. The railway book-stall can sell books. But not the longest list of restrictions, contained in the Shops Act of 1950, which runs to 77 sections and eight schedules.

Ever since I came over here to live I have been hearing the groans and grumbling, and often the apologies of the shopkeepers, and also of the shopping public.

Public feeling is growing that the time has come when both sides of this aggrieved body of the public should be relieved of the irritations to which they are subjected by the rules and regulations which are well on of date, and do not meet the needs of the people of today.

The Christmas shopping season has shown how great is the convenience to the public of allowing stores to extend their shopping hours. This has helped to put goodwill into the season. That goodwill could be extended throughout the whole year if the laws were changed drastically, and the storekeepers and their customers given more freedom of choice as to when shopping can be done.

Volcano Island Revisited

LONDON (AP)—Two Tristan da Cunha refugees are going back to their volcano-shattered island in the South Atlantic to see if it's possible for the islanders now in England to return there.

The Royal Society has organized a party to include the refugees which will sail Jan. 4 from Southampton.

Denis Simpson, 34, British agricultural officer on the island for four years, will head the delegation. He said: "In addition to the two islanders and myself there will be four seismologists, a radio operator and four naturalists whose job will be to bring back samples of mosses and ferns peculiar to the island."

The Tristan pair will be Adam Swain, 24, and John Glass, 34. They were selected by Peter Wheeler, the island's administrator, because both are bachelors, expert seamen and climbers.

The visit to the island will last three months.

"If I find it is impossible for the islanders to go back I shall have one terrible task—shooting all the animals that are left there," Simpson said.

The party will travel first by liner to Cape Town. Then they will go to Tristan by South African naval frigate.

5 DIE IN FIRE

RICHMOND, Ind. (AP)—Five children of two sisters died Friday when fire swept through their four-room upstairs apartment. Three of the victims were children of Mrs. Marilyn Morris, to whom a son was born Christmas Eve. Police said Mr. and Mrs. Morris are separated.

NEW HIGH COMMISSIONER

OTTAWA (CP)—John Stanhope Reid, 60, newly-appointed New Zealand high commissioner to Canada, will arrive in Ottawa next Wednesday. Mr. Reid until recently was New Zealand ambassador to Japan. He served previously in Washington and in 1940 was New Zealand's assistant secretary of external affairs.

BECCA CONVENTION

The president and executive of the B.C. Fruit Growers' Association announced today the 73rd annual convention of the organization will be held in the Royal Canadian Legion Hall, Vernon, on Jan. 23 to 25 inclusive. A full turnout of the membership is expected with interesting speakers now expected to highlight a busy convention.

SHIPS COLLIDE

FLUSHING, The Netherlands (Reuters)—A West German oil tanker and a Swedish ore carrier collided Friday in dense fog in the River Scheldt. Fire broke out on the 23,238-ton Swedish vessel Malinmaja and the 24,108-ton tanker Berlin after the collision but were brought under control.

MEET FRED... THE LIVING DEAD!....

The subject upon which we now write is anything but light. Unfortunately at this time of the year it's all too true.

The scene opens in any average household in the area. The time is 8 p.m. The date is Dec. 31. A husband and wife are getting ready to go to a party, celebrating a new year in their lives. The two children have been put to bed and the baby sitter has arrived.

"Well Marg, it'll soon be another year."

Yes Fred, we've had a good year in 1961."

"Sure have. Want a little drink before we go to Bill's?"

"No thanks, Fred, and you better lay off. Remember we have to drive 20 miles and we'll be picking Bill and Mary up at 8:30."

"Aw Marg, I'm O.K. Just one for the road."

"Fred, it's just that you had quite a few before you came home tonight. Better have a coffee and sandwich before you have any more."

Fred goes to the kitchen, pours a big one, downs it in a gulp, then they leave for Bill's place on the way to the party.

"C'mon in, Fred and Marg. We'll be ready in a second. Pour yourself a drink."

"Thanks Bill, think I will."

"Now Fred, please . . ."

"Aw quit beefing, Marg. I'm only having one."

They leave for the party. It's a howling success. Fred, of course, is now slightly intoxicated, to say the least.

"Fred, you'd better let me drive."

"Marg, you have been at me all night. Whassa matter, I'm not drunk. Jus' had a few."

"Fred be careful. You're all over the road. Please slow down."

"You jus' sit there. I'm doing O.K. Wheel! What a party!"

"Fred, LOOK OUT! You just missed that car."

"Scared eh, watch this I c'n go 60 around that curve and never cross the line."

"Fred, don't! LOOK OUT! There's a car coming this way!"

Too late, Fred cannot avoid the inevitable collision. If he had been sober, though, he wouldn't have gotten into the spot in the first place. After the crash, there's silence. Fred wakes up an hour later in a hospital.

"Doc, how is Marg, my wife?"

"Just lie back and take it easy son."

"How is my wife doc. She hurt?"

"Maybe I had better let the policeman here tell you what happened."

"What happened, officer? I remember being crowded off the road and blinded by headlights. Couldn't see where I was going."

"You could see all right Mr. Smith. YOU were on the wrong side. I'm sorry, there is nothing we could do for your wife. She didn't suffer though, if that's any consolation. How much had you to drink?"

Fred's grief, his remorse and his loneliness can never be assessed.

His two children, now without a mother, will always look at him THAT WAY.

Three weeks after the accident Fred stands before the court.

"Fred . . . , you are charged that on January 1st, 1962, you did unlawfully kill and slay Margaret . . . etc. . . . How do you plead, guilty or not guilty."

Fred was fined $500 and his driver's licence was suspended. He was lucky.

His guilt, however, will never leave.

Don't be a Fred during the holidays. This is a story only. But remember, it could happen — to you.

Are you willing to pay Fred's price for a "Good Time" this year? It's a terrible price to pay. But you won't have to if you leave either your car or the bottle alone.

THE CHOICE IS YOURS.

Vernon Looking Back On A Satisfying Year

By JIM BILLINGSLEY
Carrier Staff Writer

VERNON (Staff)—What was a satisfying year for the city of Vernon? It was a year of many firsts, taken all around, most will agree. It had its fund and its tragedy, lots of hard work with perhaps a little money in the bank to show for it, the commonplace and the high spots by which men remember a year.

In Vernon it was a satisfying year. The first winter carnival was staged with all the color and verve of a mardi gras. The city enjoyed a tremendous influx of tourists, not normally seen in winter months.

During the summer there was another first for Vernon. The Kalamalka Lake Marathon Swim was held and judging from the popularity of the event it will become an annual affair.

Also during the summer, Vernon co-operated closely with Kelowna during the international Regatta, and Pentiction with its Peach Festival.

Vernon Chamber of Commerce and citizens not only publicized the two big fairs, but travelled down the Valley to take part in their parades and festivities. It was a reciprocal deal. Pentiction and Kelowna supported our winter carnival.

Vernon tourist days were held complete with entertainment for our out-of-town visitors. A shopping mall for the city was discussed, and it's possible it will become a reality in the new year for a set period in the summer.

The city is getting a solid reputation as a convention centre for the Interior of British Columbia.

Eight full-scale large conventions were held and many regional service club and fraternal gatherings met here. Guest speakers included Provincial Highways Minister P. A. Gagliardi, Secretary of External Affairs H. Green, Speaker of the B.C. Legislature Hugh Shantz, who is also our MLA, and not least Prime Minister Diefenbaker, who attended, perched here when he spoke to delegates of the Union of B.C. Municipalities.

There was increased activity at the Vernon airport during the year. Visiting aircraft totaled 193, about 20 more than the previous year. There was an estimated 50 additional aircraft that did not register.

There were 40 visiting float aircraft to drop on the lake. They came from most points in B.C., and from Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba and Northern United States points. There was an estimated 2,000 departures and arrivals of locally based aircraft and a total of 290 passengers utilizing the air service.

A new airport site was discussed during the past year by Chamber of Commerce and City Council with the Department of Transport.

A VERNON 'FIRST'

For the first time in Vernon's history, three prominent citizens were made freemen of the city Friday night at an impressive ceremony at City Hall. Seated left to right after receiving scrolls from retiring Mayor Frank

Becker, are Mrs. W. Hall, on behalf of her mother, Mrs. A. Bibland, 103, now living with relatives in Vancouver; Dr. E. W. Prowse, who was Mayor of Vernon from 1931 to 1938, and Dr. Margaret Ormsby, professor of history, UBC and author of the B.C. Centennial History Journal. The trio were made freemen effective July 13, 1959, the date Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip visited Vernon.

Robust Future for City Seen by Retiring Mayor

VERNON (Staff)—Retiring fruit and vegetable industry signs toward a year of vast construction, which will provide much employment in the building trades.

In his last annual New Year's message, Mayor Becker anticipates a great influx of tourists as a result of the new Rogers Pass creating the secondary industry of tourism unheard of before.

Here is a complete text of his message:

"As the retiring mayor of the friendly city of Vernon, I appreciate very much the privilege to extend New Year's greetings to the citizens of Vernon and our neighbors and friends throughout the beautiful Okanagan Valley.

"The year of 1961 has been one of steady progress for the city. The forest industries, dairying, beef cattle, and the

Christmas With Family Theme At Armstrong

ARMSTRONG (Correspondent)—Enjoyed a Christmas visit from Thomas Nordstrom of Vancouver, his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Art Winter of Creston.

Mrs. Dick, wife of Kamloops, arrived home to spend Christmas at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Buragar.

Mrs. Dorothy Luklan returned to Vancouver after spending the festive holiday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jonas Johnson.

Thomas Clinton of Victoria, who enjoyed Christmas with his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. George Clinton.

Mr. and Mrs. Clint Hiles and Clark, after spending Christmas in Armstrong, returned to Port Moody.

Miss Anna Luklan, with her cousin, Miss Georgina Smith, a two-month visit to Holland after where her parents live.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Phillips

And of course, 1961 was a majorly election year.

Mayor-elect E. Bruce Cousins will take over the reins of city government from retiring Mayor Frank Becker. Two new councillors, Michael Lemski and Jack A. Davis, will replace Ellwood Rler, who ran unsuccessfully for mayor, and retiring Ald. James Holt.

Vernon looks forward to a prosperous year, especially in the building trade.

A new $1,800,000 hospital wing will be added to Jubilee Hospital; a motor hotel worth $700,000 will be constructed; as well as a motel on Okanagan Lake cost between $150,000 and $200,000. In addition many smaller projects are on the drawing boards.

These new lodging facilities will add greatly to lure tourists to the North Okanagan, or keep them here when travelling the Rogers Pass route, and complete favorably with other centres in the Okanagan.

COUNCIL BRIEFS

Council learned Friday night that more than 250,000 gallons of water was used to douse the disastrous Coldstream Hotel fire Dec. 24. At the same time, Mayor Frank Becker commended firemen, volunteers and parents, RCMP for their efforts at the blaze.

A Frederickton, New Brunswick man, Stuart Evans, has requested a few of Vernon's famous wooden 50-cent pieces which were made to mark National Forest Products week here during the summer. Mayor Becker indicated a "good supply would be sent courtesy of the city."

North Okanagan Health Unit has informed council that from 84 samples of domestic water taken for analysis, all indicate the supply is good and free from harmful bacteria.

GROWTH THROUGH WITNESSING

Illustrated Sunday School Lesson

By Alfred Buescher

In the first letter to the Corinthians, Paul avows that everything is a class without love. Prophetic power, knowledge, zeal, even faith and benevolence are meaningless without it.—1 Corinthians 13:1-3.

Defining true Christian love, Paul says, "Love suffereth long, and is kind. Love envieth not; love vaunteth not itself, is not puffed up... is not provoked, taketh not account of evil."—1 Corinthians 13:4-5.

Writing to the Ephesians, Paul continues, speaking of those who allow their hearts to become hardened through disuse. Ignorant and past feeling, they give themselves up to lasciviousness.—Ephesians 4:17-19.

Put away your old way of life, urges Paul, and "be renewed in the spirit of your mind, and put on the new man," modeled after God.—Ephesians 4:22-24.

GOLDEN TEXT: Hebrews 6:1.

1,500 Churches Closed In Soviet Says Traveller

NEW YORK (AP)—A Na churches there were closed in the last year, according to a report by the National Council of Churches of Christ in America, which said that about 1,500 churches had been closed in the Soviet Union.

Religious Holiday Survives

VIENNA (Reuters)—Ever since they came to power, the Communist regimes in Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Romania and Bulgaria have been trying to root out Christmas as a religious holiday.

In official jargon, Christmas has become the "winter festival" and Father Christmas and St. Nicholas have been replaced by "Grandfather Frost."

But no matter how much the Communist officials play around with words, Christmas is still celebrated in millions of homes as the anniversary of the birth of Christ. Churches are still filled to overflowing on Christmas Day and the Christmas tree is still regarded by the people as a religious symbol.

Most of the traditional customs still survive in Hungary despite efforts to stamp them out.

Children tour the streets singing carols, carrying collection boxes in the shape of a chapel, and perform nativity plays in every hospitable house.

Christmas Eve itself is a family occasion to which outsiders are rarely invited. The menu for the Christmas-Eve dinner is virtually the same throughout the country—fish and "beigli"—a special cake filled with minced meat, walnuts and poppy-seeds.

RELICS GONE
In Czechoslovakia, state-run stores no longer sell replicas of the Christ Child in His crib, or of the angels, stars or other religious "relics" used to decorate Christmas trees. Instead they offer models of Sputniks, space ships and other toys fashioned after Communist achievements.

But churches still are filled with worshippers for midnight mass and families still gather around the Christmas tree, decorated with candles and goodies for the children. Bethlehem players, groups of travelling actors, perform the Christmas story in private homes.

In Romania and Bulgaria, the governments have been more successful in their drive against Christmas.

Romanians officially celebrate the "winter tree feast" on New Year's Day but many families still manage to keep the Christmas tree, though more secretly perhaps than in any other Communist country. Each year, fewer and fewer workers stay home Christmas Day.

In Bulgaria, all the traditional public festivities have been abolished but Orthodox church services are still tolerated between Dec. 10 and Jan. 9. Most of the old-time celebrations are kept only in the country. Floors are covered with straw, depicting the stable where Christ was born, and parents hide fruit and candy in it for the children to find.

ICEBERG SIGHTED
SALEM, Mass. (AP)—A 300-foot iceberg has been spotted in the Atlantic 250 miles southeast of Salem and between the two major shipping lanes to Europe. The coast guard said it was the first time an iceberg has drifted so far south in December to menace navigation since 1917. It reaches the Gulf Stream it is expected to melt rapidly.

PRO CONSULTANT DIES
MONTREAL (CP)—Robson Black, 76, public relations consultant and president emeritus of the Canadian Forestry Association, died Friday. One of his ideas, the "Prairie tree planting campaign," still is recognized as a prime factor in the rapid expansion of tree-belts on Prairie farms.

NOTED ARTIST
George Morland, the English landscape painter who died in 1804, was only 10 when he exhibited sketches at the Royal Academy.

HONESTY BRINGS ITS OWN REWARD

PAWNEE ROCK, Kan. (AP)—Bill Livingston found a woman's purse containing a $92 cheque, $1 in cash, keys and a Great Bend, Kan., address.

He drove the 13 miles to Great Bend twice before he learned the woman had moved to Arkansas City, Kan.

Livingston mailed the purse, but got no acknowledgment. So he finally wrote and asked if she received it.

She wrote back, thanking him profusely, and enclosed a $4 cheque. The cheque bounced.

Most populous nation in South-east Asia, Indonesia has 92,000,000 people scattered among 3,000 islands.

New Year Sermon Planned

Entering the New Year will be compared to going through a door, says Rev. E. H. Bird-sall of First United Church concerning his morning sermon on the last day of the year.

"We shall," he reports, "re-mind ourselves of God who knows our coming in and our going out."

Talking about the evening sermon, he says: "The most important things about you is not what you are at the moment, it's which way your windows are open." He will refer to Daniel who in troublous times "always kept his windows open toward Jerusalem."

He could see time passing...

The folks who lived in the day of the hourglass had a psychological advantage. They could see time passing.

And as each fine grain slipped through the neck of the glass, a man's conscience would whisper within him: less time left!

When we look at a clock its hands seem motionless. Is that why millions put off the important decisions that ought to be made right now?

Whatever its cause, procrastination is a disease. It lulls the senses into indolence. It wastes our energy on trivial pursuits, while important tasks remain undone. Especially it attacks the soul, tempting man to believe that there will be plenty of time later to tend to his spiritual needs.

But the cure is simple... and immediate. Just set the alarm clock and begin the New Year with worship in your Church. You'll soon be facing every important task with eagerness and courage and faith!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake, (2) For his children's sake, (3) For the sake of his community and nation, (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

This feature is contributed to the cause of the Church by the following interested individuals and business establishments.

A HAPPY NEW YEAR TO ALL OUR READERS AND FRIENDS

No one could call 1961 a year of peace and prosperity throughout the world, but one might remember the disasters that did not happen. The third world war that did not start, the drought in the Canadian Prairies that turned out to be less serious than expected, and the huge forest fires that are over now. In the Okanagan at least we were spared these calamities and can look forward to the New Year with hope.

Let us this coming year, more than ever before, accept the beauty, joy and wholeness of the gift of life and in turn continuously and unflinchingly give to others a full expression of its harmonious action and love through ourselves.

AROUND TOWN

New Year festivities in Kelowna are off to a bright start this evening. A great many private informal parties will be held over the weekend as well as the larger parties at the various clubs and hotels. Some of the gatherings will take place this evening on account of New Year's Eve falling on a Sunday, at others however, which are being held tomorrow evening, the guests will assemble before midnight so that they may usher in the New Year together, and after twelve the dancing and fun will start of 1962.

On Saturday evening a smorgasbord dinner and dance will be held at the Kelowna Yacht Club for the members and their guests.

An informal fire light party will be held tonight at the Kelowna Golf and Country Club for members and their friends, a pleasant and friendly way to start off the festive weekend at a nominal cost.

The Rutland Fire Department will hold a New Year's Eve party for the voluntary firemen, their wives and friends. A cold plate supper will be served followed by dancing in the Fire Hall.

The Royal Anne Hotel will be gay with Christmas decorations for the annual no-host New Year's Eve party sponsored by a group of old friends who get together each year at this time to usher in the New Year. A buffet supper will be served followed by dancing.

Guests arriving at the Eldorado Arms Hotel to attend the New Year's Eve Ball, sponsored by the Cedar Creek Fire Brigade, will be greeted by Santa Claus sitting at the foot of a very original and gaily lit tree near the main entrance of the hotel.

The Eldorado lounge, decorated with the Barret's usual charming taste, will make a beautiful setting for the party. Multicolored lights and garlands sprayed with gold will set the theme and lovely arrangements will decorate the mantel.

Carl Dunaway's Orchestra will provide the music for the late dancing, a hot supper will be served and favors distributed after midnight.

The Kelowna and District Kennel Club are sponsoring a dance and smorgasbord supper at the Capri Motor Inn. The two hundred guests are expected to arrive around 11:30 p.m. and after midnight dancing will take place to Kay Dore's Orchestra in the full size ballroom of the Inn. A few tickets may still be obtained by phoning Mrs. L. R. Mitchell 2-7127.

On New Year's Day the Commanding Officer, Serving Officers, Warrant Officers and an annual "At Home" in the Kelowna Armouries from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. As in the past civic dignitaries, commanding officers and a number of VIPs have been invited to attend.

On New Year's morning the "President's At Home" will be held at the Royal Canadian Legion, from 10 a.m. to 12 p.m. for members only.

One of the gayest social events of New Year's Day will take place at the Kelowna Club when the President and Committee will host the members and their wives from 12 to 2:30 p.m.

A highlight of this annual event is always the "Parade of the Carvers" who, preceded by the "Pipers," make a tour of the lounge carrying the enormous platters of turkey, ham and game to be served at the delicious buffet luncheon which follows.

The Kelowna Gyro Club held their Children's Party on Thursday evening. To this unique affair the Gyro fathers escort their sons and daughters from the age of two and up while the mothers remain at home for a well earned pause in the Christmas activities. The Junior High School Combo Band played for the Grand March, Musical Chairs and a Sing-song and a delicious sit-down supper was served.

Newsagents now are unhappy pondering the protests they will get from their delivery boys in the new year when Roy Thomson brings out an additional color supplement to The Sunday Times.

"Lazy little devils," said one newsagent gloomily, after dealing with a complaint about late delivery. "They just don't like work and that's the truth."

A more official view was recently expressed in a Times report by a spokesman for the National Federation of Retail Newsagents. In his opinion, newspaper owners face an "agonizing choice" for the future—either restrict their size or, if the distribution system became widely dislocated, they might have to raise their price.

SIZE A PROBLEM Snobbish parents and lavish allowances are two big factors behind the problem. A third is the ever-increasing size and weight of Britain's classiest Sunday newspapers.

Both the top cultural weeklies, The Sunday Times and The Observer, have magazine supplements. Some weekends The Sunday Times weighs 11 ounces and totals 45 pages—fimsy by North American standards but a revelation of richness to British readers and advertisers accustomed to the lean journals of the post-war era.

Former Argentine Dictator Presents His Third Wife

MADRID (AP) — Juan D. Peron, the former dictator of Argentina, is introducing his secretary and hostess as "Isabel" (my wife). He declines to discuss his reported marriage. Mrs. Isabel Martinez de Peron — if that is her legal name — is an attractive Argentine woman in her mid-20s.

Friends of the couple today displayed New Year's cards which she signed as "Isabel M. de Peron."

One associate said: "We believe Gen. Peron and Isabel were married in Panama, shortly after they met there during the early days of his exile. But it is something we don't discuss with the general." Peron is 66. His first wife died in 1938 and his second, Eva Peron, in 1952.

Shortage Of News Boys Could Raise Price Of English Papers

LONDON (CP)—That familiar scene, the newspaper delivery boy hustling on his round, is gradually disappearing from the prosperous streets of Britain.

The job has never had the same respectability here as in Canada or the United States, or been encouraged by British parents as a sign of initiative and budding business enterprise.

Canadian-born newspaper owner Roy Thomson is only one of many successful men who proudly recall the fact that they started off delivering papers before school. But numerous status-conscious Britons feel the neighbors might look down on them if their children were seen distributing The Times and The Daily Express.

One father even paid his son an extra 10 shillings a week pocket money to stop him taking on a paper route.

Today, newsagents serving middle-class subscribers are worried about the lack of volunteers for the job. Soon they may have to consider employing adult labor at greater cost to themselves—and the newspaper publishers—than the present average wage of 15 shillings a week.

SIZE A PROBLEM Snobbish parents and lavish allowances are two big factors behind the problem. A third is the ever-increasing size and weight of Britain's classiest Sunday newspapers.

FIRST BABY CONTEST

PRIZES! PRIZES! PRIZES!

IT WAS A YEAR AGO

Now a bouncing, happy, healthy 28 pounds is Robert James Miller, last year's "Little Mr. 1961" who was born at 8:59 a.m. Jan. 1 at the Kelowna General Hospital. Son of Mr. and Mrs. Jonathan Miller, RR 2 Vernon Road, Kelowna, Robert is seen with his mother on Friday. Robert's many prizes last year were appreciated by the Miller's and their family of six.

Lots of Big Prizes For "Little Mr. 1962"

Kelowna's first baby of 1962 will receive a deluge of bonus gifts from generous city merchants which will exceed anything in the past for value and usefulness.

However, before the first 1962 baby can qualify for these bonus gifts, certain conditions must be met.

The baby must be born in the city of Kelowna and be the offspring of legally married parents who are residents of this area.

The baby must be the first child born after midnight, Dec. 31, 1962.

Once a winner is declared however, and the title "Little Mr. 1962" is awarded, the gifts will be numerous, and will be shared by mother and father, as can be seen from the list below.

Here are the gifts: baby record book from James Haworth and Son; cigars for Dad, Jack Coop's Smoke and Gift Shop; 8 x 10 portrait by the Paul Ponich Studios; six month's subscription to The Daily Courier; buggy quilt from the Hudson's Bay Store; chocolates from Shaw's Candies; a silver mug from William Arnott Credit Jewellers; flowers from E. Burnett; magazines from Jack E. Large; milk from Roth's Dairy; baby shoes from Fumerton's Department Store; rompers from Leslie's Ltd.; baby cereal from Shop-Easy; baby blanket from Long Super Drugs; laundry service from Happy Valley Coin Laundry; a car wash from Kelowna Shell Service, a gift certificate from The Belgo; baby food from Safeway (Canada) Ltd.; a baby hamper from Town and Country Smart Styles and free transportation home for mother and child from the hospital by Wright's Limousine Service.

The gifts of the merchants will be vitally important to the parents of the lucky child as any parent will testify, for initial expense of a new member of the family coming at the New Year is sometimes a strain on finances.

Last year's winner, a smiling one-year-old, is Robert James Miller, who's photograph appears on this page with his brothers and sisters at the Miller residence about three miles north of Kelowna on the Vernon Road.

Winner of the "Little Mr. 1962" title, an honor which can only be held for a year, will be announced as soon as possible with picture and story in The Daily Courier.

Detectives to Investigate 'Leak' in Huge UK Deal

LONDON (Reuters) — Courtaulds, the world's biggest man-made fibre producers, and Imperial Chemical Industries have jointly appointed lawyers to investigate allegations of a leak to the press about their reported plans for a billion-dollar merger, it was announced today.

ICI, Britain's biggest industrial concern, said Cmdr. Leonard Burt, retired Scotland Yard detective ace, would assist in the probe.

Plans for an ICI bid for Courtaulds stock were announced to the press recently, and hailed as "Britain's biggest-ever takeover bid."

A Courtaulds spokesman said later the disclosure of negotiations between the two giants was "premature."

It was understood that the ICI offer would take some weeks to reach Courtaulds shareholders, and that Courtaulds directors had not yet decided whether to recommend the offer to them.

It was reported that "premature" announcement of the ICI-Courtaulds talks was precipitated by a hoax call to newspapers Dec. 17.

A man gave the name of an ICI press officer and said there would be a press conference that night at the London home of ICI chairman, Stanley Chambers.

The call resulted in Chambers deciding he should officially announce that ICI was having talks with Courtaulds.

There has been speculation within the chemical industry in Canada that any such merger might also mean the merger of ICI's Canadian Industries Ltd. with Courtaulds (Canada) Ltd.

Announcement of the merger caught officials of Courtaulds (Canada) Ltd. by surprise when it broke in Canadian newspapers.

BERLIN (AP) — The Soviet commandant in Berlin and his top political advisor have been barred from the city's U.S. sector in reprisal for Communist moves to keep U.S. officials out of East Berlin.

The action announced by the U.S. mission here today marks the first time in Berlin's post-war history that a Russian commandant has been banned from the Western sector of the divided city.

Claims TB Destroyer Found

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The Dallas Morning News, in a copyrighted story, says a Dallas doctor has found a way to kill in the laboratory the cause of tuberculosis.

Dr. Ivan Kochan, a microbiologist, disclosed the information in an interview with The News.

He said his experiments with an agent he has labelled the tuberculostatic factor "have definitely proved that the factor starves and eventually kills the tubercle bacillus in blood."

The 39-year-old doctor works at the Wadley Research Institute and blood bank.

The story says Kochan's next step is to determine the dosage that will be necessary to kill the bacilli once it gets inside a protecting cell. This must be done before the discovery can be used on humans.

"... WELL WHAT WILL '62 BRING?"

This winsome child seems to be deep in contemplation of the New Year. He undoubtedly is taking an interest in something. In Kelowna a "Little Mr. 1962" like he — or is it she? — will usher in the New Year with bonus gifts from city merchants — providing he or she is the first baby born in the city after midnight, Sunday.

Ex-Convict 'Lie Tested' In Human Torch Killing

JACKSON, Mich. (AP) — A paroled convict, faced with results of a lie detector test, admitted tying up a 72-year-old retired minister and leaving him to die in a burning farm home, state police said Friday.

Lynn E. Houck, 28, acknowledged his part in the human-torch death of Rev. Roy R. Decker because "he apparently knows how he fared on the lie detector test and just decided to tell us," said state police Capt. James Macdonald.

Macdonald said Houck claimed the fire in which the Methodist clergyman died Dec. 28 started accidentally when Houck plugged in an electric heater to keep Mr. Decker warm.

Houck denied the police theory that the killer set the fire after the victim had been doused with inflammable liquid.

RAN FROM HOUSE

Houck was quoted as saying he ran from the house when the fire started, leaving Mr. Decker unconscious with his hands tied behind his back under a blanket on a bedroom floor.

The admission was announced shortly after midnight. It came after a long day of questioning that began when Houck was arrested about 3:20 a.m. at the home of his stepfather, Edwin Houck, less than a mile from the death scene.

Houck was quoted by Macdonald as saying he had been staying in the vacant house when

Mr. Decker discovered him and they struggled.

He admitted taking the minister's car key and $10 from his wallet and then fleeing in Mr. Decker's car when the fire broke out.

Sports Editor

Dear Sport Mother:

This is an open letter to all sport mothers. I think it should serve as a New Year's message, because in the next year a few more thousand Canadian mothers may feel the pangs sport might bring.

Maybe I'd better explain what my definition of a sport mother is.

First and foremost she is any mother who has a child actively engaged in some sport. Since few human beings escape this classification, especially in the developing years, due to organized sport in schools, compulsory phys-ed programs, and the natural bent of children toward the rough and tumble, most mothers will understand why the letter. They have felt the pangs that sport can and inevitably does bring.

Reward in sport is chameleon in character; it sometimes is the color of bruises or scars, sometimes the color of money, often the color of frustration and disappointment. The richer colors of challenge and answers to challenge, however, are dominant. It changes with the demands made upon it.

This is why I write the letter.

I suppose it might be presumptuous, imagining I can divine the knocks dealt the maternal instinct when a young and eager boy-boxer steps into a ring and is dressed with a heavy list on the nose. Worse, the blows to this so-called tender instinct (is there any instinct as violent when completely aroused? Ask the mothers you read about in the papers who dash into a burning house to get to their children, who are trapped inside) when the black-eyed, tear-stained face appeals a contented decision.

I think progress in man comes from his adaptability; this absolutely necessary ability to recoil and recover from tragedy, and tragedy is at every corner of life's teeming metropolis.

There is challenge all through life. If we accept them as they come, deal with them to the best of our ability, then they seldom remain as obstacles.

I believe that the little challenges in sport are a tremendous training ground. Every youngster can see in miniature the struggles he will face as long as he lives. His success and happiness depend on having the will and the adaptability to either win or accept defeat for what it really is, a prod to work harder.

As a sport mother, you have probably tended the bruises, both bodily and mentally.

"You can't win all the time." "Everybody can't be first." "There is always a next time." You may have said these things. And many others.

You may have said, "It isn't that important." And cautioned your boy or girl "not to worry about it." But it certainly can be that important. Important, but still not important enough to make defeat a knell that tolls any kind of commentary of unhappiness.

I suppose a few impressionable egos are damaged in sport. But for every child who carries his sport frustrations over into mature life, many thousands accept the value of sport under its deeper explanation of a medium of challenge for fun.

If it is in fun, then it can't be very harmful.

That's what it is to be a good sport. And a good sport mother, what is she? She's all a mother has to be first of all, then she teaches that you don't have to accept one defeat as the be-all and end-all of life. You might be surprised that your boy heads back into life's "ring" and clobbers all his opposition with a roundhouse, or a wicked hook, or a vicious jab.

Life is a bully. And bullies traditionally pick on marks, pushovers. Show any real resistance and the bully will set out for far horizons, as they say, likely-split.

Barked shins, tears, frustration, and the rest, they are gremlins to a sport mother's natural concern.

Since a good sport accepts them as indications that he has been in the fray and done his little bit, he can recover from them quickly. Because he recovers quickly they are branded as being relatively unimportant in the face of the more profound values that we find in sport.

Sport, because of its lessons, is didactic. It teaches, in other words. Did you buy your son a pair of skates at Christmas? Or your daughter a tennis racket? If you did, you have purchased a teacher, but the ability to see that there are lessons there has to come from you as the gift wrapping.

Because this is a rich age, because we can afford these presents and the time to have fun, the wherewithal to have it in sport, we doubly owe something to the academic side to stabilize the picture.

People can get along without sport, and live quite happily, and learn the same things. Sport can be a shortcut to the common destination. Yet the same territory will be seen.

Make your New Year's resolution one to be a good mother, and a good sport mother.

Yours truly,
ERIC GREEN.

Green Bay Sees a Title Game; But After 42 Years of Waiting

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — were extremely confident, coach, Allie Sherman of the Glants said: "Fine, that's the way I after 42 years of waiting when the weather was 'worst!'" The Packers, 34-point favorites, were to lumber up for about 15 minutes on the frozen practice field today. The Glants scheduled a short workout on the same field later.

The carefully tended turf of City Stadium, covered by a tarp and a layer of straw since mid-November, was firm but unfrozen. Vince Lombardi, coach of the Packers, wants firm footing for the power thrust of fullback Jim Taylor and halfback Paul Hornung. He also wants solid footing for his pass defenders until somebody scores.

The only sudden-death play, off game in history was played by Baltimore Colts and New York Jets in 1958 when the Colts won 23-17. If it goes into overtime, the Packers would have the edge because Hornung has been a more consistent field goal kicker than Pat Summerall of New York.

WHL ROUNDUP

South And West Win Four Pts. Over North

The two top teams in the Western and Southern Division took on Northern Division opponents Friday night, and both won by four-goal margins.

The south's pace-setting Buckaroos, playing with only 12 men most of the game, defeated Edmonton Flyers, the Northern Division's best, 6-2.

Spokane Comets ended Vancouver Canucks' bid to climb from the Northern Division cellar with a 5-1 victory. The loss on home ice ended the Canucks' only winning streak of the season at two games.

The Buckaroos led 13 men at Edmonton—two fewer than regulations permit—and then lost forward George Knipfelberg in the second period with a broken jaw.

Arnie Schmutz and Gord Fashoway scored two each for Portland. Art Jones and Tom McVie added singles. Rookie Don Chiz and Chuck Holmes scored for Edmonton.

Pig In A Park?—Oink Is No Porker For Race Poke

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP)—Oink, the Jacnot Stable's grass running specialist, goes back into action at Santa Anita park in the $25,000 - added San Gabriel Handicap New Year's Day.

Winner of his first start at Santa Anita three days ago, in a turf race, Oink faces a field of eight or nine horses in the 1 1/2-mile holiday feature.

Jockey Manuel Ycaza gets the ride on Oink since Willie Shoemaker drew a five-day suspension. Shoemaker was set down for his work aboard Art Market which brought an interference foul in the stretch in the feature race Thursday.

Art Market was disqualified from first to second and Shoemaker got his first suspension since 1958, which cost him the ride on Round Table, subsequent winner of the $100,000 - added Santa Anita maturity. Art Market is a probable starter in Monday's race.

The Kerr Stable's Grey Eagle will be sent into the race with Johnny Longden of Taber, Alta., in the saddle. Grey Eagle finished second to Oink in the 6 1/2-furlong dash last week.

Shoemaker Friday hit the 300-win mark this season for the first time.

Pee Wee Practice

There will be a Pee Wee All-Star practice Tuesday, Jan. 2, at 7 a.m.

Shoemaker, Kyle Rote and Joe Walton, Y. A. Title was expected to be the Glants' starting quarterback, with 40-year-old Charlie Conerly ready to get into action any time.

LARGE GATE ASSURED A $1,000,000 gate is assured with $400,000 in ticket sales and $615,000 for radio-TV rights.

After $300,000 of the TV cash has been put in the player pension fund, the remainder will go into the receipts pool. Each member of the winning team is expected to collect about $5,000.

Each loser will get about $3,000. If the game is tied after regulation play, it will be continued on a sudden-death basis until somebody scores.

The Glants also reported everybody ready including Alex Webster, Walton and Rosey Brown, although Brown still was bothered by a sore leg.

Weather Plays Role In 3 Football Classics

NEW YORK (CP) — A cold wave is expected to be a major factor in determining the winners of the three major post-season U.S. college football classics today.

The Gator Bowl, with Georgia Tech meeting Pennsylvania State in Jacksonville, Fla., and the Blue-Gray all-star game in Montgomery, Ala., share top billing with the East-West all-star game in San Francisco.

The Penn State squad, basing its hopes on the passing arm of Gates Hall and a strong, varied offense, feels right at home in the brick weather. However, the weatherman predicted a possible warming trend by kickoff time.

Chicago Fans Must Wonder

No one has mentioned the subject seriously for a long time, but Chicago fans must be wondering if overtime should be brought back to the National Hockey League.

The Black Hawks, approaching the mid-way point of this season, have only a one-point hold on fourth place and the last playoff spot that would give them a chance to defend the Stanley Cup they won last spring.

During their last three games, while struggling to pull away from fifth-place Detroit Red Wings, the Hawks have played three tie games.

Two victories or even one would have given the champions a more comfortable margin. Although overtime would bring the risk of a loss as well as hope of a win, you couldn't blame the wondering Chicago followers if they adopted a go-for-broke philosophy.

The skein of the games gives Chicago a total of 10 in 33 games, far more than any preseason forecasters would have expected off the class the Hawks showed last spring.

Both Montreal Canadiens and New York Rangers have played eight tie games, while Toronto Maple Leafs and Detroit have five and Boston Bruins four.

COULD HAVE CHANGED A few games transferred from the column to the win would have eased a lot of Chicago souls.

Both Chicago and Detroit have their work cut out for them during the holiday weekend. Chicago is in Montreal Saturday and is host to the Canadiens Monday. Detroit visits New York Saturday and the club plays in Detroit Sunday.

New York and Boston have a home-and-home series Sunday and Monday. Rumors of player shifts popped up with Toronto showing interest in Eddie Litzenger and Alex Delvecchio of Detroit.

Litzenger, slowed down after starting the season with a rush, is rumored to be on waivers while Delvecchio is supposed to have asked to be traded.

Toronto coach Punch Imlach, asked whether he was interested in the two, replied "no comment," then proceeded to add:

"I don't even know if Litzenger is on waivers. I'm interested in Litzenger. I'm certainly interested in Delvecchio. I'm interested in a lot of hockey players."

And that's supposed to clarify the situation.

Just not good enough." Lowe expects to have a strong team in the Canadian box here tonight.

Bucharoos' coach Brian Roche said he expects the Canucks to be plenty tough because "they get better every time out." He expects opposition but not winning opposition.

There has been rumor that one Kelowna knipkin has "lost his desire to play." Coach Roche, commenting, said the upcoming registration date was the crucial point. He said he has told the player in question that he will "play properly" or not get signed.

Lowie stated that he "never knows" who is going to show up, and point out that "this is by Bowles at 15:17, but the Rockets had little time to rejoice as Smith was right back for the Vs at 15:59.

Then, with the minute hand on the clock nudging the 20-minute mark, Hittfield made no mistake on a passout from Tom Wells to give the Vs the win.

Kelowna Junior Ducks tonight meet the Vernon Junior Canucks in Memorial Arena. Game time is 8:30, not 8 p.m. On Monday, Junior Buckaroos will have a chance to repeat their earlier triumphs over the Vees, who last night performed their biggest upset of the season.

New Year's Day game is scheduled for 2:30 p.m. One of the attractions of the game, for spectators will be the giving away of prizes donated by Don Lange. Prizes will be given on a draw of program numbers. You can be included in the draw by purchasing a program.

The West has all-American quarterback John Hadl from Kansas and big running backs in Ron Bull from Baylor and Mel Melin of Washington State, who also make up a powerful offense.

The CBC will televise the Rose Bowl from Pasadena, Calif., to all of Canada.

PREDICT TIGHT GAME Favored Minnesota meets University of California at Los Angeles in the Rose Bowl and a rugged, tight game is predicted.

Minnesota lost in the Rose Bowl to Washington 17-7 last year. The difference between the teams is expected to be the all-around talent of Minnesota's Sandy Steghens, an all-American quarterback.

WEATHER CHANGES ODDS The Blue's heavier ground striking power has made it a slight favorite in the final odds-making — a switch from the earlier betting. The cold weather was a factor in the change — the figuring being that the hard ground will affect the Grey more than the Blue.

Although two-time all-American Ernie Davis of Syracuse and Bob Ferguson of Ohio State formed an awesome backfield combination for the East in the East-West Shrine game, an authority on the game said Friday it is possible that neither player will wind up as the star of the game.

Andy Kerr, a former football coach who has been associated with the East-West game for 35 years, said:

"We've had a great many backs in this game over the TORONTO (CP) — Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League today announced the purchase of veteran right-winger Ed Litzenger from Detroit Red Wings for the $20,000 waiver price.

Toronto general manager and coach George Imlach said the 29-year-old forward will play with the Maple Leafs here tonight when they meet the fifth place Detroit club.

of equipment, the club remains alive only on the high school level. It is the oldest athletic club in Kelowna, says Webster, dating back "conservatively" at least 50 years.

One of the prospects rowers can look forward to is shown in the travels of two Kelowna products, Glen Mervyn and Ray Bostock. Both have rowed in international competition.

PROSPECTS "Rowers here could look forward to trips like this in a very few years," Dave Webster believes. Dave Webster teaches maths and sciences in Kelowna High.

The three-month head start this season should make Kelowna more than a contender.

COLLEGE LEVEL This particular sport, says Dave Webster, is the most popular international sport on a college level. The sport once flourished in Kelowna, and the Aquatic Club is said to have grown out of the original rowing club here, some time during the 1930s.

"Rowing is not too common outside of universities on the North American continent. It is one of the most popular of European sports, a "Sunday afternoon" type of sport," says rowing club coach Dave Webster.

Kelowna, he believes, is an ideal setting for fostering this sport because of its lake frontage. With the present minimum

Members of the teams: Rod Pickering, Hans Garisch, Ed Slater, Bill Thompson, Bruno Guidi, Stu Walker, Wayne Marsden, Romolo Verna and Doug Perry. Most of the boys rowed last summer, and the club kept up practices until early December.

The Monday afternoon race is to herald start of the new season, a three-month jump of the usual season starter gun.

Canucks Make Big Effort For Kelowna Meet Tonight

Vernon Canadians may be more than strong tonight as coach Odie Lowe is making a concentrated effort to get players out.

The reason? Lowe said today the approach of the deadline for registration is coming up quickly.

Lowe has approached juvenile coach Dave McKay. With McKay's approval, there will be at least nine juveniles on the Canucks roster.

"Each time we don't field a team, we get beaten badly and it hurts us in the eyes of fans as well as the league," Lowe told a Courier reporter today.

"We just have to rely on our younger boys and although some of them are too young, we need them to replace less reliable older players," added Lowe.

Lowie stated that he "never knows" who is going to show up, and point out that "this is

Swede Stars, Cats Caught

At 4-4 Tie

STOCKHOLM (CP) — The touring Port Arthur Bearcats of the Thunder Bay Senior League played to a 4-4 tie Friday in an exhibition game with a Swedish provincial all-star team in the Swedish coast town of Gavle.

The Swedes matched the Bearcats goal for goal, each team scoring once in the first period, twice in the second and once in the third.

Port Arthur is Canada's representative in Sweden's International Ahearne Cup tournament. The Bearcats have won both of their games in the tournament but are in second place behind Sweden's Djurgarden team, which has won three games and lost none.

The Bearcats are scheduled to play an exhibition game today against another Swedish all-star team. They will resume play in tournament New Year's Day against the powerful Czech Red All-Stars.

In tournament play, Port Arthur has defeated two Swedish teams, Vaestra 2-1 and Soderstjo 4-0.
